

2001 Fall ASSOCIATION Conference

November 1, 2001 | Lakeway Inn and Conference Center | Bellingham, WA

GEORGE R. BOGGS

Keynote Presenter

Dr. George R. Boggs is President and Chief Executive Officer of the American Association of Community Colleges (AACC).

From its Washington, DC headquarters, AACC is the voice of the nation's 1,151 two-year colleges and close to 11 million students. The Association's role encompasses advocacy, public policy, research, professional services, coordination, and leadership.

Dr. Boggs holds a bachelor's degree in chemistry from The Ohio State University, a master's degree in chemistry from the University of California at Santa Barbara, and a Ph.D. in educational administration from The University of Texas at Austin.

He has served on the Boards of Directors of the California Association of Community Colleges, the Community College League of California, the Western Association of Schools and Colleges, and the American Association of Community Colleges, serving as Board Chair in 1993/94. He served as a member of the Committee on Undergraduate Science Education of the National Research Council and has served on several National Science Foundation panels and committees. He has testified before both state legislative and Congressional committees on subjects related to higher education. He is the author of more than fifty articles and chapters in professional journals and books.

Dr. Boggs has been honored by The University of Texas as a Distinguished Graduate. He received the Professional of the Year Award for Motivational Leadership from the Leadership Alliance, the Harry Buttimer Distinguished Administrators Award from the Association of California Community College Administrators, the Marie Y. Martin Chief Executive Officer Award from the Association of Community College Trustees, and the Stanley A. Mahr Community Service Award from the San Marcos Chamber of Commerce. The City of Vista proclaimed January 15, 1994, as Dr. George Boggs Day in recognition of his community service. Dr. Boggs is listed in Who's Who in America and six other Who's Who directories.

Dr. Boggs served as a faculty member, division chair, and associate dean of instruction at Butte College in California and, for fifteen years, he served as the Superintendent/President of Palomar College in California.
