APPRECIATIVE INQUIRY

An Introduction to a Powerful Process for Working with all Organizational Opportunities and Issues

Thursday | August 4, 2005 | 8:30am – 4:30pm

Location: Safeco South Jackson Street Center | 306 23rd Ave. S., Suite 200 | Seattle WA 98144

“Appreciative Inquiry (AI) is an approach to organizational change based on strengths rather than weaknesses, on a vision of what is possible rather than an analysis of what is not.”

- David Cooperrider, Case Western Reserve University

Working from a strengths-based foundation of guiding principles, Appreciative Inquiry (AI) is especially well suited for all kinds of organizational areas: from strategic planning, leadership development at all levels, to human resources to service delivery and more.

The AI perspective is a process of positive change based on the thinking that what you focus your energy on increases. Grounded in positive psychology and researched methodology, this flexible tool gives us voice to discover our strengths, create positive visions of our future and articulate the design necessary to actualize our future.

WORKSHOP OBJECTIVES:

- Experience the Appreciative inquiry (AI) process
- Provide a new perspective for workshop participants to employ when approaching work related issues
- Explain the basic concepts and principles of AI

PARTICIPANTS WILL:

- be able to articulate the 4-D cycle
- be able to identify at least one/two applications for the AI perspective in their work
- understand the How and Why AI works

“A great workshop ...amount of experience and theory nicely balanced.”

“Gives me a positive perspective and approach....enables me to have a positive outlook that will pass on to my clients and co-workers”.
